

I read the book Out of My Mind, written by Sharon M. Draper. The best word to describe this book is: fantabulous. It stands out from other books because it is about a girl with disabilities. The book is about a girl named Melody who has Cerebral Palsy. She is really smart, but people think that she is dumb because she can't talk and move like a nondisabled student. One of the highlights of the story is when Melody makes it on Kid Wiz, an academic competition team. What I won't tell you about is how she ends up communicating. I think you would enjoy this book because it is amazing. Have you read any good books lately?
